\udb40\udc21. there are rabbits in puzzle form. 11/10. 6/10 Piece missing. I do not really know how I finally found this, but it was very hard and this should be the first thing every possible buyer sees. I think it is in the curator review. "This fake developer has reskinned their old asset flop for the 3rd time. This is a reskin or "Jigsaw Puzzles" \ "Puzzles For Kids". This fake dev is known for posting asset flop fake games." So -1 for steam.

The game itself is vastly devoid of content. 16 bunny pictures, each cut up in 10x6 jigsaw pieces. Each picture is cut up in the exact same pattern on every run of the game. That means you are buying 16 pictures in 60 piece virtual jigsaw puzzles. (Edit: seems that there is less than 16 patterns. The pattern number 1 and 16 are different, but looking at the pictures in the app page some seem to be the same pattern.) Also, user-friendliness rate 0 on the scale 1-10. You can complete it all right. But you must look in the app folder to find all 16. The link created by steam opens the picture number 1 each time. The things the comments are talking about are nowhere to be seen. This game has the obvious goal of "robbing" buyers by asking a low price for zero value. Like the beggars on the street. There are free jigsaw games out there that cut up any picture you give them in the amount of pieces you ask for.
